Lutterworth backs lake treatment and testing

Lutterworth Township council has unanimously passed a resolution supporting the efforts of Michael Collins and the Haliburton County Anti-pollution group to develop a treatment plan to protect area lakes from acid rain.

Collins spoke to the councillors at a meeting January 2. His presentation was similar to that given at the county council meeting last month, although certain aspects dealt exclusively with lakes in Lutterworth Township.

The former chemist, who has proposed that threatened lakes in the area be treated with ground limestone, told the councillors that the township was fortunate. He said a band of dolomite crosses the municipality, following the flow of the Gull River. He said this rock formation contains sufficient buffering capacity to counteract the effects of the acid rain. The speaker noted that other lakes within the township, including Davis Lake in the southeast corner of the township and other lakes away from the Gull River area do not have similar protection.

Collins told the group that he needs their support to continue his testing program. He has been monitoring the acid level of Stormy Lake in Glamorgan Township. He is a resident on the lake. "I hope to establish an acid profile of the lake and then show how treating it with ground limestone will help return the water to an acceptable acid balance." Collins said that if the experiment proves to be successful, the data would be useful to the county and other municipal bodies in pressuring the province and federal government to implement a full-scale program.

He pointed out that the expense of his study up to this date has been borne by his group. He indicated that as the testing program advances financial assistance from outside sources will be required to continue the work. He said that this was the main reason for his approach to the various municipal councils in the area.

"We can save the lakes in Haliburton using local people," he commented. "We have the techniques and knowledge. We do not have to depend on outside experts to get this work done."

Collins then answered a variety of questions from the councillors and a number of residents at the hall to hear his presentation.

Collins told one questioner that while he was working in the Sudbury area, a lake which was classified as "dead" because of heightened acid deposition, was brought back to life through the addition of ground limestone. He said the scientists were able to restore the lake to its normal productive capacity with fish and plant life.

Councillor Bill Valentine asked how finely the limestone needed to be ground. Collins suggested that pebble size or smaller would be best.

"The smaller the particle, the greater the surface contact between the water and the limestone," he said. He noted that the finer the material is ground, the more it will cost to have it processed.

He also noted that the process he proposes to use would employ ground limestone, not pure lime. "To use lime would create too much of a shock factor," he said, "whereas limestone releases its buffering into the lake at a slower rate." He pointed out that there are extensive deposits of limestone just south of Haliburton County, meaning the material is right at hand.

Collins also told the group that while the dolomite rock formation provides protection for the water that flows through it, the material is not porous enough to be used in place of ground limestone.

Asked about the cost of placing limestone on a lake during the winter, Collins suggested a figure of $5000 per lake. He admitted however that this was not a calculated figure, but rather a "guess". He also said there would be other additional costs for starting up a grinding plant and other expenses that have not been anticipated.

Collins noted that since the addition of the limestone to the lakes will take place on the ice in the winter, it could prove to be a source of employment for the community.

December weather

by Phil Graham

Average high	.7
Average low	-.9
Average temperature	-8.3
Average for December 1978	-8.8
Highest temperature (December 11)	6.5
Lowest temperature (December 17)	-26.5
Rainfall	53.4 mm
Snowfall	33 cm
Total precipitation	86.4 mm
(1 cm of snow equals 1 mm of rain)

The average temperature for December was only half a degree warmer than that recorded in December 1978, despite the rain and mild weather. Snow on the ground, December 31, 1978, was 38 cm, while the accumulation at the end of last month was 4 cm. Most lakes were frozen over by December 31 and skating on the smaller lakes and ponds was excellent due to the lack of snow.

Too bad Ma Bell

Imagine talking with someone in Europe for half an hour and not having to worry about the bill Ma Bell would send your way at the end of the month.

That is exactly what Wendy Perry, mother of exchange student Lorrie Perry, did this past weekend.

Through the amateur radio facilities of Minden "Ham" Phil Graham (VE3APL), Mrs. Perry and her family were able to talk with their daughter Lorraine who is spending a year in Belgium.

Lorraine, whose letters home have been a regular feature of The Times since September, is staying in the community of Sombrefe. An amateur radio operator in that community and Phil Graham here have agreed to provide a radio link between the student and her family so they can maintain closer contact during her time overseas.

The contact has proved to be doubly useful as the Minden Rotary Club is also hosting a student as part of the exchange program. Jean Paul Dispeaux is from Sombrefe and so when the Perry family gather around the short-wave radio here, Jean-Paul is with them, while Lorraine and the Dispeaux family transmit from overseas.

The first conversation took place in December, just before Christmas. The group now plans to make contact on a regular basis.

So, while thumbing their noses at Ma Bell on this side of the Atlantic (and presumably Madame Cloche in Europe), the two students and their families can be as close as the nearest ham radio.

Wendy Perry, mother of exchange student Lorraine Perry flashes a broad grin as she talks to her daughter in Belgium. The toll-free call was arranged through two amateur radio operators who offered their services. Minden "ham" Phil Graham, centre provided the radio link at this side of the Atlantic. The short connection also permitted Jean Paul Dispeaux, right, an opportunity to speak to members of his family in Belgium. He is from the same community in which Lorraine is staying.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Haliburton Highlands
the heart of getaway country

The media is filled these days with speculation of what will happen in this coming decade. Many of the predictions are full of doom and gloom and have instilled a degree of panic to some business people. This panic is reflected in the rush to convert savings and investment capital to gold.

We are reminded of the true story of a lumber dealer in Toronto who during the early fifties was convinced that we were about to have another depression. He stopped expanding his business and spent much of his time discussing this impending disaster with his customers. He cautioned many of them to consider carefully the project they were planning in view of the economic collapse that he foresaw. As it turned out he was partly right - he had a depression - in fact he went bankrupt. Meanwhile the many other lumber dealers around him that could not foresee the depression coming, prospered. They just didn't know any better.

This would not suggest that we all plunge blindly ahead and ignore the experts. Many important things are going to happen over the next ten years that will dictate our future prosperity and we have to be paying attention. One economist, who insists that we are now heading into an "Inflationary Depression", goes on to say that although the situation is absolutely unavoidable, the individual effect will vary depending on the individuals' capacity for dealing with it. It is possible, he says, to make money on a depression. In spite of the gloomy predictions, people who are using borrowed money to invest in income properties will fare well he suggests.

Many outside factors have a great bearing on the future such as the energy crisis and the possibilities of energy alternatives, the impending threat of another major war, the ecological balance here and throughout the world, and of course the overwhelming technological advances that are anticipated. "The world is moving so fast these days, that the man who says it can't be done is generally interrupted by someone else who is doing it!"

There is no doubt about it there are going to be some tough days ahead, but with determination and by working together, we can come out of it looking forward to the 90's with great optimism.

Good old snow

Snow, or lack of it, has been a major topic of conversation of late, but as of today it would appear we are finally going to get a good base for winter sports. Although some business in the county suffered severely from the lack of snow, the overall impact so far had not been that serious. It tends to point up the advantage of not having "all our eggs in one basket". Some of our winter business has been built around hockey, broomball and curling tournaments which are not affected by the changes in the weather patterns. Continued development of these functions provides a good insurance of a base for winter business.

20 million dollars

Euroart Investments unveiled plans recently to build a twenty million dollar resort complex on the former site of Rosneath Manor on Milford Bay, Muskoka. The resort property was entirely destroyed by fire in 1976 and the developers are proposing a complex that could be described as a "large scale housekeeping cottage resort" and will be aimed at bringing in large numbers of European tourists on a year round basis.

This news would of course, be more exciting if it was happening here, but it is encouraging to see that there are development firms optimistic enough about the future of tourism in this region to make such extensive plans. (It is worth noting here that U.S. visitors to Canada from January to August 1979 were down 4.1% and visitors from elsewhere were up a whopping 21.6%.)

This and that

The newly refurbished Sunny Rock Lodge was the scene of a very special wedding and reception on Saturday when owners Barry and Lorna Shaw tied the knot. We hope this is only the first of many celebrations to come for this new family in our community and are sure you join with us in sending them good wishes.

Our sincere regrets and sympathy go out to Evelyn Jarolimek and family on learning of the sudden passing of her husband Charles. They owned and operated Fairfield Bay Cottages on Mountain Lake until last summer and were now looking forward to spending summers at their cottage in Irondale.

Another chamber member taken suddenly was Bill Capell who suffered a heart attack at the drowning tragedy on Twelve Mile Lake. Bill represented Peterborough Bedding in this area and was well known by many of the resort operators and will be sorely missed.

Rolled into ditch - $5000 damage

A 1978 model station wagon sustained $5000 damage in a single car accident December 29 on Highway 35 north of Miners Bay.

The vehicle was being driven south by Mickel Truax, 22, of Lindsay, when he lost control on a curve, struck two guide posts and crashed into the east ditch. The vehicle rolled over before coming to a stop.

The mishap took place shortly after midnight. Constable Mike Legge investigated the accident.

Strikes parked car

A pick-up truck driven by Suzanne Pierson, 17, of Oshawa slid into a parked car on a township road in Guilford township December 30, resulting in $700 damage.

Pierson was travelling east on the road, which is not maintained during the winter months, when her vehicle skidded into the parked car. The pick-up truck sustained $700 damage while the parked car had $400 damage.

Constable Weldon Popp of Minden OPP investigated.

Lost control

A car driven by Kim Barry, 17, of Haliburton, rolled onto its side in the ditch after the driver lost control of the vehicle on County Road 7. The mishap took place December 30.

The accident resulted in $1000 damage to the 1979 model car.

The accident was investigated by Constable Weldon Popp.

Treated at hospital

A Haliburton woman, Joan Cooper, 43, was treated and released from Haliburton hospital after she sustained minor injuries in a single car accident January 1.

Cooper was travelling south on County Road 7 when she lost control of the car on a curve and struck a tree stump in the south ditch.

The 1971 model car sustained $1000 damage.

Investigating officer was Constable Boyd Jarvis of Minden OPP.

Grant for park

A $5,000 provincial grant to the townships of Anson, Hinton and Minden will be used for the development of Gull River Parkbelt into an approved park. Natural Resources Minister James Auld announced recently.

The park accessible from Highways 35 and 121, covers 1.4 hectares (3.5 acres) extending from close to the junction of South Water Street with Highway 35 on the east to about 76.5 metres (2,500 feet) downstream of the Bobcaygeon Road on the west.

Preparation of detailed site plans and intensive tree and shrub planting will be part of the initial phase of development.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

A startling prediction came across my desk the other day. An international group of scientists, gathered at a conference on the future of endangered species, predicted that by the year 2000 the world will lose over 600,000 species to extinction, unless a massive effort is made for last-ditch efforts to save them. That sobering thought is indicative of the scale and complexity of ecological problems facing us in the eighties.

It's tough to be optimistic about the years ahead. We haven't yet been able to deal effectively with our existing environmental problems. Key wildlife habitats, such as wetlands, continue to decline. Industrial pollutants continue vegetation in the area, Collins said his remarks were "untrue". He said that studies from all parts of the world have indicated damage to plants as a result of increased acidity in precipitation. Collins noted however, that treating the soil with limestone would be "a next to impossible task," and the best the group could do was provide protection for area lakes.

Reeve Ron Gambell strongly endorsed the objectives of the anti-pollution group. "We shouldn't wait for county council to act," the reeve stated, "there is too much procrastination at the county council. Lutterworth council is definitely behind you. We want to get something going on this."

Gambell suggested the council convene a public meeting later in the spring, when cottagers can attend, to explain the problem and the solution as recommended by Collins.

to find their way into the environment, all too often with long-standing results. Even the polar bears in Greenland now have PCB's in their fat! Yet on top of these existing problems, it seems that even more complex and widespread difficulties are being discovered almost every year.

This new breed of environmental problems, perhaps best represented by the ozone scare of a few years ago, and the acid rain problem of today, is usually international in nature, and so complex that few but the scientists directly involved can understand their workings. But their effects, in terms of dead lakes or reduced future opportunities for mankind, are no less real.

Amidst these gloomy predictions, however, there are scattered a few glowing embers of hope. As our knowledge increases, more and more of us are realising that man is not separate from his ecosystem, and that wild nature possesses functions too valuable to be lost. As the worries about nuclear safety, acid rain and oil shortages have shown us in the energy field, there's no such thing as a free lunch when our society demands much from the environment, but necessity is forcing us to become better at making the tough choices necessary to protect the environment while maintaining most of our lifestyle.

Perhaps optimistically, I'll predict that the eighties will be a decade of change - a change to a more conservator-oriented society that carefully husbands its resources, that uses technology which lies lightly on the land, that recognises the limits on human growth and greed, and that accepts the right of wild creatures to share the planet that bore us all. These changes may not come without upheaval or distress, but come they must, for without them our 21st century looks dim indeed.

HCSA joins the Alliance

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has severed its ties with the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs. The decision, taken at a recent meeting, came about after the club's executive decided the interests of snowmobiling in Ontario and Haliburton County would be better served if the group joined the Public Motorized Snow Vehicle Trail Builder's Alliance.

One of the main complaints against the federation was that the organisation had become dominated by smaller clubs from southern Ontario. The local club claims they are more interested in the social aspects of snowmobiling. "These clubs have no real interest in public trail grooming or funding for the expansion of the trail system in the province," the HCSA press release stated. The release pointed out that funding for trail maintenance has remained constant while inflation has eaten away at the value of the dollar received.

According to the HCSA the Alliance is in favour of a system of trail use now in operation in Quebec. There users of the public trails, who are not members of recognised clubs, must pay a fee for daily use of the trails. The network is patrolled by a group of volunteer safety officers to ensure that those using the trails have either contributed through purchasing a club membership or by paying for a daily pass. The officers have powers similar to those granted auxiliary policemen.

"The HCSA looks forward to co-operating with the Alliance in the betterment of snowmobiling in Ontario," the announcement from the local club concludes.

Carnival to feature many favourites

Plans are well underway for Minden's annual romp in the snow. According to spokesman for the Minden Kinsmen Club, Ed Elias, this year's winter carnival promises to be as big and as exciting as last year's event.

"We have put together a program with many of last year's features and some new items as well," the spokesman stated.

The weatherman had added his co-operation by giving the area a dusting of snow. Organizers are looking for a couple more snowfalls to add to the accumulation before the carnival weekend January 26, 27.

Included in the line-up for this year is the popular carnival queen pageant. Organizers are trying a new twist this season and are seeking sponsorship from various stores in town for the entrants. (An announcement regarding the pageant is contained in this edition of The Times).

Also on the schedule is the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association safari, cross-country ski races and tours, snowmobile drag races and a long list of games and activities designed for the enjoyment of children.

A popular feature, car racing on ice, is also back. "The event is generally considered the first on the ice racing circuit," Elias commented. "Drivers from Toronto, Barrie, Peterborough and other centres throughout the province are attracted to this event."

Among the entries are cars sponsored by factories."

The vehicles race in two classes, with or without studded tires. An iced track adjacent to Bobcaygeon Road north is used for the event.

"As far as I know," Ed commented, "our track is one of the few in Ontario to be all on land. Most others are on lakes or rivers. Most drivers seem to prefer the land track because there are fewer problems with the ice. They don't have to depend on lake ice or put up with slush build-up which can become a problem."

First canoe race of 1980

A rather different new year's day tradition may soon become established in Minden. A canoe race was held on the Gull River last Tuesday (January 1). The event, open only to staff members from Camp Kandalore drew seven two-man entries.

The paddlers put in at Rotary Park and finished at the bridge. Jim Raffin of Chesterfield and Jim Rice of Toronto were the winning entrants.

The paddlers wore life jackets and appropriate winter attire and competed with identical canoes.

A spokesman for the camp said the participants were all experienced paddlers and he discouraged anyone from getting out a canoe simply because there is still open water. He pointed out that the cold temperature of the water can be a critical survival factor this time of the year.

The canoe race coincided with the camp's annual staff get-together, when employees of previous years gather for a reunion. The spokesman said the lack of snow eliminated a lot of traditional winter activity, such as skiing, for the reunion, so the staff decided to try a typical summer recreation.

The racers were watched by a few curious and somewhat surprised onlookers, as they sliced their way down the river.

Now it's the Law. You can no longer drive without insurance.

The Compulsory Automobile Insurance Act came into effect on December 1st, 1979. Now Ontario residents must have insurance to register any motor vehicle. Drivers can no longer pay $150 into the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund and register a vehicle without insurance. The MVAC Fund did not provide insurance; it compensated the victim of an accident and made the driver responsible for payment of the claim.

The deadline for car registration renewal is February 29, 1980. To register any motor vehicle you must have a minimum of $100,000 third party liability insurance. Editorial

Has excessive violence been eliminated from Minor Hockey? If you were one of the people in attendance at the final game of the Atom tournament Saturday afternoon the answer, both on and off the ice, is a resounding no!

The game, played between teams from Minden and Bracebridge, had to be delayed on numerous occasions as coaches and officials tended to players hurt during the action. Fortunately, none of the eight to ten year olds appeared to be seriously injured as all were able to make their way back to the bench under their own steam.

Many of those participating in the contest displayed an attitude of aggressiveness that was disquieting.

The rough action on the ice can be traced to a number of sources, including lax enforcement of the rules of the game by officials, a "win at all cost" attitude on the part of players and their coaches, and encouragement from the stands that often abets this negative attitude.

We admit it is unfair to blame all players, coaches, officials and fans for the style of hockey witnessed Saturday, but the fact still remains that many players were hurt in the course of the game.

Youngsters of this age group, who still have a large portion of their bodily development yet to come, should not have their future jeopardized, particularly when the potential for injury could be greatly reduced by examples set by those in charge.

Likewise, the emotional development of children in this age group is in its most formative stage. Is it fair to subject 8, 9 and 10 year olds to a "win at any cost" mentality? We don't think so. Competition can be a good teacher, but there are other things to be learned in this setting as well, including sportsmanship, fair play, learning to play a game for the enjoyment of the sport and the ability of being a good loser. Often it appears that these values are being totally ignored in the scramble for goals.

But certainly more disturbing than the action on the ice, is the comments and activities of some of the fans. Game officials and visiting team members often become the target for verbal abuse. Over-eager parents can create tension and confusion among players on their own team as they bellow well-meaning instructions from the sidelines...instructions that perhaps are contrary to those given by the coach.

Saturday's game was marred by a particularly vitriolic cascade of abuse from one individual aimed at the visiting players and referees. The comments, often obscene, were totally uncalled for, especially considering the age and ability of those taking part. Following the game, as the teams lined up for presentations, a fight broke out in the stands between two adults.

How can we expect players on the ice to refrain from excessive violence when they are the target of such verbal garbage and are allowed to witness such activity?

We understand that the Ontario Minor Hockey Association rules allow a referee to suspend play on the ice if an individual in the stand is creating a disturbance. It is time officials here began to exercise this regulation to ensure a proper atmosphere is maintained in the arena.

Something that often escapes the attention of those who become wrapped up in minor hockey games or tournaments, is that these are children on the ice. They may look like the ice-gladiators who populate our T.V. screens Saturday night. But underneath all that padding and behind the barred face mask is a child...a child who needs our support, encouragement and example, if we expect him to develop into the sort of adult this country needs.

Sticking with hockey, anyone looking for an interesting evening of fast-paced hockey action at the right price, should stop by the Minden Arena Monday evenings.

Each Monday at 7 and 9 p.m., four teams from the Men's Recreational Hockey League square off. The members of the teams may have varying ability but they share a common desire for an entertaining evening of fun. The action is quick with a lot of passing and play-making. Although we couldn't say from any personal experience, we like to think that this is hockey as hockey used to be played.

It is fun to watch and encouraging and refreshing to see the enthusiasm the players put into the effort. We highly recommend it.

(P.S. There is no admission charge.)

Buckslide in winter Increased benefits for 1980

Increases in the Old Age Security pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, effective in January 1980, were announced recently by Health and Welfare Minister David Crombie.

The minister at the same time announced a 9% increase in Canada Pension Plan benefits, also effective January 1.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise to $182.42 from the present $179.02.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will increase to $149.76 from its current $146.97. Added to the basic pension, this gives a person receiving both the OAS and the maximum GIS a monthly total of $332.18.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $124.52 each from $122.20. Added to the basic pension this will give each married pensioner receiving the maximum GIS a total of $306.94 or $613.88 for the couple.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to income.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $306.94 from $301.22. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum GIS at the married rate and is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to OAS pensioners and meet residence requirements. Entitlement to a Spouse's Allowance, and the amount paid, is based on yearly income.

Where the pensioner spouse dies the surviving spouse may be eligible for the continuation of the allowance to age 65 or remarriage if that person has no income or a limited amount of income.

Increases in Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments are increased quarterly based on the cost of living.

A Question of National Will

By: Jean Lachance

The "accident" which plunged the country into another election a few weeks ago could never be called a victory for the Canadian people or a progressive step in the handling of the nation's affairs. Not by a long shot.

In addition to the $50-60 million the new election will cost, Canadian voters are being asked to settle the same difficult question they faced last May: who is better equipped to handle the responsibilities of government?

It is more of a dilemma than a question. The real choice is between the erratic and sometimes inept Conservatives and the worn out, decimated Liberals, although the NDP could spoil either scenario.

Jean Lachance is Public Affairs Officer for the Canadian Federation of Independent Business

Recent political history in Canada tells us that a potential backlash against those who provoked yet another election might result in an overwhelming mandate for the Conservatives. When this last happened in 1958, parliamentary opposition virtually ceased to exist in this country. On the other hand, the Canadian voter may well confirm last May's verdict and perpetuate the existing instability at the federal level at a time when Quebec, with 25% of Canada's population, is preparing to choose its own political destiny.

There is no doubt that issues such as leadership, the Conservative budget, and the voter's appreciation of who is responsible for the fall of the government will be considered by the electorate.

But the real issue that should dominate the present election campaign is one of policy, and mainly Canada's energy policy.

John Bulloch, President of the 55,000 member Canadian Federation of Independent Business puts it this way in his year-end message:

"The issue is how to turn higher energy costs into a great Canadian opportunity. Voters should be asking their political leaders how the $200 billion to be spent on resource projects in the 1980's can be used to provide maximum long-term benefits to Canada."

The point is that if we don't develop the necessary policies to protect Canadian interests in both the small and large business sectors, we could find ourselves with greater foreign domination of our economy, a weakened manufacturing industry, serious shortages of capital and skilled manpower, and increased disparities in income.

Maybe the real question all Canadians must face in this election is this: do we have the national will to shift from the politics of "immediate gratification" to that of "building for the future"?

Phenomenal opportunities exist. Will we have the sense and maturity to accept the challenge, no matter what our political affiliations are?

Bracebridge wins Atom tournament

A team from Bracebridge has taken the Minden Texaco Trophy and atom tournament championship. This one day event was held Saturday at the Minden arena.

The Bracebridge squad captured top honours in a one-sided contest against the Minden entry. The local team put up a valiant effort against the Bracebridge squad, but were hard pressed to match the visitors excellent playing. The championship game saw Bracebridge defeat Minden 8-0.

Eight teams were scheduled to play in the tournament, but one cancelled at the last minute, leaving the organizers with some fast shuffling to be done. After the first round of play, a coin toss determined that Minden should advance to the championship round while Omemee received a bye to the final consolation play-off.

Here is a report on the days's games:

Game 1: Haliburton 3-Omemee 1, the game was also part of the regular season schedule.

Game 2: Bracebridge 5-Little Britain 2.

C.P.R. course planned

An instructional course in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) will be held this weekend in Minden.

The course, sponsored by the Minden Red Cross Hospital is one of a series to be held during the winter and spring for those who wish to gain their CPR Certificates or for re-certification of those previously trained.

The course, which will be taught by Dr. Jeff Lodenquai, will be held at the firehall January 12 and 13.

CPR is used in the resuscitation of victims of heart attack, drowning and other causes of sudden death. The Red Cross hopes to instruct as many people as possible in the coming months in the techniques.

Anyone wishing to take the course can call 286-2001 to register.

News from the Guild

(by Carole McLean)

As we welcome this new year, 1980, we are also entering a new decade, one we hope, that will bring us as much success in achievements as the last.

If we were to recap the growth of this previous year alone, we would be hard-pressed to tell whether it referred to one year or ten. As guild members we should be extremely proud of this outstanding record.

$1000 grant

A grant of $1000 has been donated by Sir Sandford Fleming College to the Guild of Fine Arts Resource Centre at the Rails' End Gallery.

This grant will purchase slides and books as well as periodicals in the various areas of the visual and performing arts. The resource centre has been growing rapidly and with the aid of this generous contribution, will prove to be a most informative as well as impressive collection.

Winter Carnival Sale

Mid-February has always been known as Winter Carnival time, with a multitude of activities being held in Haliburton that weekend for the enjoyment of all our visitors as well as our residents.

One that we are proud of is our Winter Carnival sale to be held this year at the Rails' End Gallery. Although it seems to follow rather closely on the tail of our Christmas Show and Sale allowing little time for our crafts people to produce new items, we are nonetheless, encouraging one and all to do their best. To say we are being recognised as one of the leading areas in which to obtain quality crafts would not be an understatement, so let's not disappoint any of our visitors.

Pottery group

The proposed credit course in pottery sponsored by Sir Sandford Fleming College has temporarily been shelved until a teacher can be obtained to instruct the one day and one evening a week for the 10 weeks course. Thirteen applicants for the course had been registered, but a total of 20 was needed to carry it 2 days and 1 evening a week, so a new schedule is being made in order to proceed as planned.

Until this is finalised, the Guild pottery workshop will hold their spring courses as usual starting January 14, Monday evening, Tuesday day, Wednesday day and Wednesday evening. See you there!

Quilts on display

A special quilting course will be the next show to be held at Rails' End Gallery.

The upcoming show at the Gallery is entitled "Quilts on Display." This show will run the entire month of January with special feature attractions to be held periodically throughout.

This display of prize-winning quilts was recently shown at the Sarnia Art Gallery and is the work of area crafts people.

Mrs. Williams will accompany the display and a special quilting course will be held Tuesday, January 15 and Wednesday, January 16 morning 9-12 and afternoon 1-4, with the morning class dealing with patch and press techniques and afternoon classes, applique and press. The cost of the course is $12.00.

A special get-together will be held January 17 starting at 10:30 a.m. This get-together is open to the general public and is entitled "bring your own ideas." The session will be of particular interest to novices.

A Penney's Worth

by Yvonne Penney

The Clock of Life
The clock of life is wound but once
And no man has the power to tell just when
The hand will stop-at late or early hour
Now is the only time you own-Love, live and toil with a will-Place no faith in tomorrow, For the clock may then be still.

The sympathy of this community and particularly of this family goes out to Marie, Gloria and Dean, Dawn and Ginger on the sudden death of a husband, father and beloved grandfather, Elwood Cox. Year's ago Marie and Woody's home was a second home for me and many like me. We were severely chastized and scolded for coming in late and anything else which appeared wrong in their eyes. We realize now it was all in our best interests and our parents' peace of mind. Our heartfelt sympathy is expressed to Marie and her family in their great and sudden loss.

The weather is still holding, clear and cold - making it just great for people travelling around visiting friends but I've talked to many cottagers and young local people who are very disappointed at the complete lack of snow for skiing or snowmobiling. My two daughters received skis for Christmas and there they stand - useless. They have enjoyed some skating however, on our beautiful little Mirror Lake in the centre of Carnarvon.

Well today is the first day of a new decade - 1980. Last night we attended a house party down the highway at the home of Linda and Larry. We had a very nice time and met some more of our neighbours who live on the outskirts of our beautiful downtown Carnarvon, namely Mary Lou and Bill Totty and her sister Barb - they own and operate the Wedgewood Marina. Bill (Pussy-cat) tells me that he has a new boat storage area there and has plenty of room for more boats and canoes.

Have you made your new year's resolutions yet? I have made a few but am not going to make them public since I did such a poor job of keeping my one resolution from last year - Good Luck to Shirlee and Dutch on their resolution to give up a bad habit.

Little Jamie Bacon fell last week and has broken his leg and is spending a month in St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough in traction. Then he will have to wear a cast on his leg for six weeks after he comes home. Perhaps you would like to send him a card - he is three years old and must be pretty bored by now lying on his back in bed. Jamie is a very active child and has the most engaging smile. By the way, he is on the fourth floor.

Ruth and Ira Barry spent the new year's holiday in Toronto with her sister and brother - Mary Hicks and Lloyd Harrison. They returned home last Tuesday and report having a very nice time.

I received a pledge sheet in the mail the other day from Whipper Watson asking me to join the 1980 ride for Crippled Children - Snow-crama 1980. I haven't heard of a date as yet, but you can be sure I'll soon be out collecting pledges as this is one way I can help a child. I think every year should be "The Year of the Child" since they are very important to the running of our great country - the future.

I heard a fish story today. One brother caught a ten pounder on Thursday and his brother (not wanting to be outdone), went out on Friday and caught a twelve pounder. Pretty good luck I'd say!

I also heard a rumour (I hope) that you can't purchase 1980 plates for a truck until goodness knows when. Pretty bad business eh?

Lots of traffic tonight (Friday) with snowmobiles on most every car - all these hopeful people.

I read a definition in the paper the other day - the definition of a tornado? Mother Nature doing the twist! Also the meaning of the word crapulent - all the stuff you lent and don't want returned!

If you don't receive a card in the mail telling you that you are on the voters' list, make sure you call your enumerator and get your name put on the list. In my poll, which is No. 16, you can call me all day on January 30 and I'll see to it that your name is added to the proper list so you can get a vote on February 18.

We watched the first part of the horror movie "Salem's Lot" on T.V. last Thursday - what a scary story - the conclusion to be shown next Thursday at nine on channel 3 Barrie.

My Christmas poinsetta is still blooming beautifully - how long will it last and what do I do with it when it stops blooming? Can anyone tell me?

A note which appeared on the United Church Bulletin yesterday - The person who says "I will do it tomorrow" was probably saying the same thing yesterday.

I hear today that Jamie Bacon is feeling somewhat better as he has resigned himself to having to stay in hospital and separated from his parents and baby brother.

Letters from Lorraine

Lorraine Perry is an Ingoldsby High School Student who is spending a year in Belgium as part of an exchange program organized by Rotary International. Lorraine is sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club. Her family has agreed to share with the readers, her impressions of Belgium and experiences in Europe through the letters she sends home. The following are excerpts from a letter sent December 18.

This letter is a little late because I just had a very busy weekend. It all started December 14 (Friday). I went to school as usual in the morning, but at 12 noon Babeth picked up Francoise and I and we went to Namur, to the L'Ecole Hoteliere Provinciale de Namur. It is on a hill overlooking the town. It is a modern building with official Belgian flags all around.

This is a provincial school where students learn about hotel services. They attend classes in three shifts, one group in the kitchen, one serving and one eating. The students gain experience in all three areas.

When we entered we were taken up stairs to the dining room which was filled with students. We had a delicious lunch with veal as the main course. For dessert we had marzipan served with cake, fresh cream and nuts. Through lunch we talked about everything, including Canada. I gave our hosts some pins from Ontario and Haliburton County tourist books with which they were very happy.

Afterwards we went to the Namur Provincial Government offices and Babeth showed Francoise and I some of the assembly rooms. We were given a beautiful book with details and photographs from throughout Namur Province. It includes all the famous sites, history and details of the way of life in the province.

Following dinner at the home of another host family, we went to the Theatre Royal de Namur to watch a ballet de ventieme de Maurice Bejart. He was a French dancer who was not accepted in France, so he performed in Belgium and was a great hit. His dances are classical, modern, and some moves of his own. It was an excellent ballet. The dances were very different, although I could recognise certain steps which were from classical ballet.

I sat in the second balcony. The interior of the theatre was beautifully decorated and it was the original old building with paintings on the high ceilings, fantastic crystal chandeliers and a very "grand" feeling.

The next morning it was off to Paris, France. Again, while crossing the border, the guards didn't even look up. It took us three hours to get to Paris. We ate lunch at a restaurant on the corner of a street at a very busy intersection. Right now I'm not sure if the Germans or the French are the worse drivers. Believe me, it is even worse than Montreal.

We were driving around, flying and dodging others. You have to drive fast or you will get run, over. You also have to be moving before the light turns green because everyone honks as soon as the light changes.

We stayed in a hotel close to a Metro station in the north part of the city. It was very convenient for taking the Metro, which is like a subway, but runs on rubber wheels and is a lot quieter. The stations have a great deal more advertising and some even have display cases for stores on the platform.

After lunch we went to the Centre National d'Art et de Culture. It was a very modern building that resembled a mass of puzzled tubing, smoke stacks, and big pipes. All of the electrical wiring, sewage, water and telephone

First issue for 1980

The first stamps to be issued in the new year will be on sale January 23 at the post office.

Two events, one historic and the other modern, are being commemorated by the issue.

The first, a 17c denomination, marks the one hundredth anniversary of the acquisition of the Arctic Islands by Canada. Britain had claimed control of this area and had offered it to Canada as early as 1874, seven years after confederation. However, the method of transferring the territory and boundary disputes delayed the actual take-over until January 1880.

The stamp features a dark blue map of Canada with the Arctic Islands highlighted in white. The stamp was designed by Gottschalk and Ash of Toronto.

The modern event being marked by the second stamp is the 1980 Winter Olympics, to be held February 13 to 24 at Lake Placid, New York. The stamp, a 35c denomination, features a photograph by Dinh Ngoc Mo, showing a skier racing downhill. The photographer has used an out-of-focus technique to emphasize the speed of the racer.

Clermont Malenfant of Montreal designed the stamp.

Canada Post will have 23 million 17 cent stamps printed and 13 million 35 cent stamps.

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

Mrs. Lena Burton celebrated her 84th birthday December 30 at a dinner party at Glen Roy with guests Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Radford and Helen and Jim Burton. The community sends belated good wishes.

At the weekly mini card party at the Parish Hall last Thursday afternoon, winners were for cribbage Joyce Hewitt and Agnes Taylor and for euchre lone hands on a cut, Alice Todd, Norah Briggs and Marjorie Coulter.

Paul Davidson of Thornbury enjoyed a visit with his parents Mr. & Mrs. George Davidson.

Mrs. Jim Beattie returned home on the weekend after a visit with her family in Toronto.

Mr & Mrs. Roy Courtney are home again after a visit with relatives at Bondhead.

Visiting Mr. & Mrs. Taylor Kernohan over the holiday were Mr. & Mrs. Bud Kernohan of Whitby, Mr. & Mrs. Jim Graham and Mr. & Mrs. Bill Barkwell of Huntsville and Allan Kernohan of Oshawa, also their grandchildren Karen and Michael Bibeau and Christopher of Port Perry and Debbi and Tony Van Schnydel of Whitby.

Mr. & Mrs. Stanley Osmond of Mississauga were Saturday guests with Mr. & Mrs. Wally Brown.

Maud Coulter is home after spending some time with the Ray Rivers' of Downsview.

Mrs. Ernest Windover enjoyed a visit with the Gary Vaseys of Bradford during the holiday season.

The Lodenquai family are home after a holiday with friends in Toronto.

At the L.O.B.A. card party at the Orange Hall, winners were for cribbage Joyce Hewitt and for euchre Shirley Hewitt, Teresa Cowan, David Coulter and Noel Leigh. All enjoyed the delicious lunch served by the ladies and the winner of the draw was Pearl Cowan.

The community sends good wishes to Annie Cox who celebrated her birthday on Tuesday January 8.

Randy and Bob Kernohan and Jerry and Micheal Graham of Huntsville spend some of their holiday with their grandparents Mr. & Mrs. Taylor Kernohan.

We heard of the death on December 25 of Irene Weaver, a daughter of the late John Prentice at Simcoe General Hospital. Sincere sympathy goes to her family and friends.

All their friends send good wishes to these people who have been or are still in hospitals. Dora Dawson at the local one, Mary Maidens at Ross Memorial and Ron Robinson at St. Michaels, Toronto.

We think our mail is slow, but we received two Christmas cards dated December 19 and Al Coneybeare told us they received a card from Europe in just 4 days. Something wrong somewhere, but our local gang does well.

The cost of living's pretty high-there's little free in life. No end of things I can't afford, and neither can my wife. How odd that things the most worthwhile (and they are very many)—Health, sunshine, love, song and friends—

Just do not cost a penny.

Coming events - Library-Museum meeting Monday January 14 at 8 p.m. at the Municipal office upstairs and Women's Institute at the Parish Hall January 16 at 2 p.m.

We looked in the almanac and sure enough, they said snow and sure are having a blustery Monday. Good for the snowmachines, but take care.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

The Christmas season has been a very happy and busy time at Hyland Crest. Because of all the holidays, Senior League was not published last week. However, I will fill you in on some of the festivities.

On Thursday December 20 the Auxiliary members brought a delicious variety of Christmas goodies for the tea party. Santa Claus and his two mischievous elves gave each resident a special gift which was purchased by the Auxiliary. The choir from the Allsaw Mission came to sing Christmas carols. The Gospel Church Choir of Minden also came to sing for us and served a lovely lunch afterwards. These two groups have beautiful voices and the residents enjoyed their visit very much indeed.

Christmas Day was a happy time for all of us. In the morning, Santa Claus and his elves showed up again to distribute gifts to the residents.

At eleven o'clock, Rev. David Barker held a Communion service in the chapel. At 12:30 p.m., Mark Schell and the kitchen staff served a delicious Christmas dinner with all the trimmings. Several residents were joined at this Christmas dinner by members of their family.

After lunch, Lt. Mailman, his wife and son Michael of the Salvation Army were with us to celebrate the birthday of Jesus. Of course, the playful puppet Andy came with them. We have grown very attached to this warm family and we were so happy to have them all with us on this very special day.

Friday December 27, several residents enjoyed the hilarious movie, Ma and Pa Kettle in the Ozarks. The funny antics of Ma Kettle and her brood had everyone laughing until their sides were sore.

Christmas cake, shortbread and ice cream cones were served for the Thursday tea party between Christmas and New Year. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the treat.

New Year's day, Jimmy Cooper of the Brethern faith held the chapel service and Agnes Taylor was with us to play the organ.

After New Year everything was back to normal with our fun and fitness program and crafts.

The Haliburton Legion ladies brought a lovely lunch for the tea party on Thursday and on Friday afternoon, Grace Coburn led the sing-song.

Esther Rowbotham, Arthur Young and Hugh McEachern celebrated their birthdays over the holidays. They were each presented with a cake and given birthday wishes by the staff.

On behalf of the residents and staff of Hyland Crest, I would like to wish everyone a healthy and prosperous New Year.

The winner of the Christmas turkey draw held at Peterborough Lumber was Clarence M. Redner, R.R. 1, Haliburton.

Guilt-free snacking

Snacking is perfectly acceptable when you select good snacks. There is no scientific basis for limiting food intake to three meals a day. Meal eating has simply become a custom. But more frequent eating can be equally sound health-wise. In fact, it may even be advantageous, especially for children, whose food needs are high because of their demands of growth and activity.

But snacking has a poor reputation. Many of the traditional snack foods are high in sugar, fat and/or salt, but low in nutrients. Snacking on these foods satisfies the appetite, but the teeth and waistline suffer. It's the types of foods selected for snacking, not the activity itself, that deserve to be questioned.

What is a good snack

Snacks can be both tasty and nutritious. Health-wise there are 2 criteria for a good snack: (1) it should contain a substantial amount of nutrients; (2) it should not contain sugar. Recent evidence has shown that even a small amount of sugar eaten between meals damages the teeth. This includes all kinds of sugar - white, brown, honey, molasses, maple syrup, etc. Dried fruits are also damaging to teeth when eaten as snacks because of their concentration of natural sugar and the stickiness of the fruit.

If you want to snack better, follow some of these suggestions.

Next time you reach for a snack, look again to see if good snacks are available - you may be surprised! Better snack choices are now available because of consumer demands. But if the choice of good snacks is limited where you buy, encourage your vendor to carry a better selection. Your Health Unit nutritionist can supply you with a list of the many nutritious products now available that are sold. Or you may wish to carry your own when you know you'll want a snack, e.g. coffee-break. And keep cupboards and the fridge at home stocked with good snacks - don't bother buying the poor ones.

No further away than a picture
A smile or remembered phrase
Our loved ones live in memory--
So close in so many ways
For how often does a sunset
Bring nostalgic thoughts to mind
Of moments that our loved ones shared
In days now left behind
How often has a flower
Or a crystal autumn sky
Brought golden recollections
Of happy days gone by Memory has a magic way
Of keeping loved ones near--
Ever close in mind and heart
Are the ones we hold most dear
